

Any Google Sites that were not moved during the migration will need to be moved manually. To manually move a Google Site, please follow these steps:

Please note that the original link to the Site will no longer be effective and the new link will need to be shared.**

- Log in to your old PH account and share Editor access with your new account to the Site.

- Log out of your old PH account and back into your new account.
- Navigate to the Site you just shared with yourself.
- At the top of the page, click the three vertical dots next to the word Publish
- Select “Make a copy”

- Once you make the copy, you will be able to edit and publish the copied site under your domain name, and you will now also be the owner of the new site.
- You can publish and share the new site link with your audience.

Please note that the original link to the Site will no longer be effective and the new link will need to be shared.**
